Excerpt from River of Dementia

"I remember the day I was diagnosed with dementia. I was sitting in the doctor's office, holding my husband's hand. The doctor looked at me with a mixture of sadness and compassion. 'I'm sorry, Jane,' he said. 'You have dementia.'"

"I felt like I had been punched in the gut. I couldn't breathe. I couldn't think. All I could do was stare at my husband, my tears streaming down my face."

"That day, our lives changed forever. Dementia is a cruel disease. It robs you of your memories, your independence, and your dignity. But it doesn't have to rob you of your hope."

"I'm sharing my story because I want to give hope to others who are facing dementia. I want them to know that they are not alone. And I want them to know that there is still beauty and joy to be found, even in the darkest of times."
